The month in brief

February 2026 brought steady movement on cybersecurity legislation, with 44 bills changing stage across more than a dozen states. Utah led the activity, contributing seven of the month's movements and the only enacted measure, HB 19, which addresses cybersecurity requirements for drinking water utilities. Florida and Oklahoma each advanced multiple bills through committee, while New York passed two bills through one chamber that would expand computer-related criminal offenses. A federal bill, the Health Care Cybersecurity and Resiliency Act of 2026, was ordered reported out of committee, marking the sole congressional action this month.
